THE HOUSTON ARTS PARTNERS CONFERENCE

IGNITION

sparking creativity in every classroom

SEPTEMBER 13 - 14, 2019

AT THE UNIVERSITY OF HOUSTON-DOWNTOWN

The brightest ideas begin with tiny sparks.

From IGNITION, you'll not only have access to strategies for integrating the arts and creativity into every classroom - you'll also be invited to re-awaken your inner artist, musician, or performer.

LEARN MORE: www.HAPconference.org

www.facebook.com/HoustonArtsPartners @HouArtsPartners

Get inspired. Get excited. Get connected.
Since 2011, the Houston Arts Partners Conference has connected teachers and teaching artists for interdisciplinary learning. These often become the starting point for partnerships between Houston's outstanding, professional arts organizations and schools. Not sure how to create, sustain, or fund those partnerships? IGNITION tackles that question too.

The commitment to being an educator doesn't mean you have to give up your love for the arts.
IGNITION will have you rolling up your sleeves and getting back into practice - even if you feel you're "only good at stick figures," "can't sing a note," or suffer from "Shakes-fear."

Educators teach students, not just subjects.
When we say that the Houston Arts Partners Conference offers something for everyone, we don't just mean teachers of academic subjects and the arts. IGNITION offers arts-based strategies tailored for including students with learning differences, English Language Learners, and gifted and talented students.

Your HAP Conference Co-Chairs:
Susan Chiboroski, Alief Independent School District
Jonathan Minchew-Gonzalez, Main Street Theater

September 13 and 14, 2019
$45/one day or $75/both days - CPE Hours Included

Learn More, View Schedule, and Register at www.HAPconference.org

Young Audiences, Inc. of Houston, a 501(c)3 organization, is the managing partner and fiscal agent for Houston Arts Partners.